Never Mind Buzzcocks axed by BBC

TELLY pop quiz Never Mind the Buzzcocks has been axed by the BBC after 28 series.

It has been hosted by comedians Rhod Gilbert, Simon Amstell and Mark Lamarr and regularly featured Phill Jupitus (above), Sean Hughes and Noel Fielding as captains.

Highlights from the BBC Two show include the 2007 episode where Ordinary Boys singer Preston walked off after Amstell read extracts from the autobiography of his then-wife, Chantelle Houghton.

Fun Lovin' Criminals frontman Huey Morgan once smashed his mug and walked off when hosts, Rizzle Kicks, poked fun at him.

A Beeb spokeswoman said: "We'd like to thank all the brilliant hosts over the years."

Boy, 17, dies after taking 'ecstasy'

A TEENAGER has died in hospital after taking what he thought was ecstasy.

Toby Fairclough, 17, had a heart attack on playing fields in North Marston, Bucks, before being rushed to Stoke Mandeville hospital.

His family said the death of their "cherished, sporty, ebullient child" has "left a huge hole" in their lives.

A post-mortem will take place next week.

A Thames Valley Police spokesman said: "We believe Toby digested a substance which he believed to be the illegal drug MDMA (ecstasy)."

BROTHEL MADAM HIT FOR £1MILLION

VICE QUEEN: Paterson

MORE than £1million has been confiscated from a "vice queen" and her male accomplice who operated a lucrative prostitution racket for more than a decade.

Margaret Paterson, 62, and Robert Munro, 63, were among five people who were ordered to pay back almost £1.5m in separate cases at the High Court in Edinburgh yesterday.

Paterson and Munro had been on trial for brothel-keeping, money laundering and living on the earnings of prostitution between 2001 and 2011.

They were sentenced to five years' in prison in July 2013 but faced confiscation hearings yesterday.

The Crown Office said Paterson was made subject of confiscation orders totalling £1m while Munro was told to pay back £96,836.

Paterson - who was dubbed Madam Moneybags - had been convicted of laundering £700,000 and a further £544,000 while acting along with Munro.

They laundered almost £595,000 of the proceeds of their crimes by using it to purchase luxury goods and services, and the remainder through the company bank account and the possession of illegally-obtained cash.

The judge who jailed them, Michael O'Grady QC, said: "It has been an operation remarkable in its scope, sophistication and organisation - not to mention profitability.

"It has also been remarkable for its cynicism."

Stars line up for Human Rights

BENEDICT Cumberbatch is among a group of actors to voice their opposition to the Government's plans to scrap the Human Rights Act.

The Sherlock star, Homeland's David Harewood, Game Of Thrones actress Indira Varma, Vanessa Redgrave and Simon Callow have appeared in short films based on experiences of people who have relied on the legislation.

Plans to replace the Act with a British bill of rights were included in the Queen's Speech yesterday.

Cumberbatch, 38 (above), said: "Our Human Rights Act belongs to all of us. It's not for politicians to pick and choose when they apply or who deserves protection."

"Repealing it will mean less protection against state abuse or neglect, and weaken the rights of every one of us - and the vulnerable most of all."

Varma added: "Our Human Rights Act protects young or old, wealthy and poor, civilian or soldier."

"It is a cause for pride and celebration, not a pawn in a dangerous political game. It is ours and no one is taking it from us without a fight."

Crackdown on England hooligans

POLICE are tightening controls on football thugs ahead of England's match in Ireland next month after a "deterioration" in the behaviour of some fans following Roy Hodgson's team.

In addition to handing over their passports, individuals who are subject to banning orders will have to attend a police station on match day - the first time this measure has been used for four years.

Efforts to make sure troublemakers are kept away from the match in Dublin on June 7 are being stepped up after a spike in disruptive conduct was observed at England's last four away matches.

A spokesman from the National Police Chiefs' Council Lead on Football Policing said: "We will be running a national operation to round up those who fail to comply before and immediately after the fixture."

WHY GET SHIRTY WITH ME?

Says shamed mum who snatched Beckford's top from boy, aged 8

ROW: Vickie (right) says the truth has been twisted

THE mother who wrenched a football hero's shirt from an eight-year-old boy on live TV claimed last night it was just a 'misunderstanding' - and she knows the child and his family.

Mum-of-two Vickie Timbrell, 31, from Manchester, wrestled Jermaine Beckford's jersey from schoolboy Ted Dockray at Wembley Stadium, and left him "in bits".

Hours after the incident it was advertised on classified website Gumtree for £1,500, but the advert has since been removed.

The Preston striker had thrown his shirt into the crowd after scoring a hat-trick during Sunday's play-off final against Swindon.

Football fans watched in horror as Ms Timbrell, who was wearing a pink top, appeared to snatch the shirt from the boy in the 71st minute of Preston's 4-0 victory, after Beckford had been substituted.

The mother, who found herself at the centre of a social media storm, said she plans to speak to the family.

She said: "People have made me out to be an absolute idiot. I will be speaking to the family, I actually know them - they're friends."

She also wrote on Facebook: "Can I say thank you to everyone for all the support and texts. I'm not commenting on the c they've written because I'm taking this further. It's all wrong and twisted. My side of the story will come out."

Smelly

Beckford, a Jamaica international, has since called for the woman to return the shirt to Ted, from Failsworth, Manchester, who was said to be "in bits" and ran towards his father Martin after the woman seemed to grab the shirt.

The family, who live around a mile from Ms Timbrell, had gone to north-west London to watch Ted's 10-year-old brother Leo play in a schools' championship.

His aunt Helen Dockray

last night said: "Ted was clearly the last one to have his hands on that shirt. He would have worn it even if it was all sweaty and smelly."

"It is the happiness it would have brought the child that matters."

Beckford, 31, who made history by becoming only the third player ever to score a hat-trick in a play-off final, said: "It was intended as a goodwill gesture."

"I assumed it would go to a good home from someone who was able to enjoy the game."

"Hopefully, it will find its way back to the kid who caught the shirt."

X FACTOR boss Simon Cowell says he WON'T be axing Cheryl Cole from the judging panel.

Rumours have been rife that music mogul Cowell, 55, is ready to pull the trigger on sexy Cheryl's time on the top desk.

But he has now confirmed that Cheryl (above) WILL still be displaying her cleavage and legs on the show when it returns to ITV screens later this year.

Speaking about his attempts to replace the outgoing Mel B, he said: "I think Cheryl would love it if there was three guys and her, but it's not set in stone."

"It could be another female, it could be a guy."

"There are a lot of people I keep thinking may be good, but no-one definite."

Robbie Williams is one chap being tipped for the gig, alongside BBC Radio 1 host Nick Grimshaw.

Paul Nuttall

STRAIGHT TALKING FROM UKIP'S DEPUTY LEADER

● PEOPLE with pre-pay energy meters spend about £80 a year more than those who pay quarterly.

That means they're effectively subsidising those who pay by direct debit.

How can that possibly be fair?

The majority of those consumers using pre-pay meters are from the least well-off members of our society.

To me, this is not a million miles from the loan sharks making fortunes out of deprived people who can't get credit elsewhere.

The poor should not be propping up the more fortunate.

That is a society completely upside down.

Evidence points to EU having a breakdown

EUROPE is falling apart at the seams – but you don't have to take my word for it.

You might in any case expect a UKIP MEP to be of that opinion – so please, let's look elsewhere for evidence.

Like Spain, where anti-austerity supporters have finally had enough and are making massive gains across the country.

Like Greece, where their money has pretty much run out and they can't afford to pay their debts.

Like France, where nationalists are on the rise and their pro-EU president François Hollande is ever more beleaguered.

In the middle of all this, though, we learn that France and Germany – always the most enthusiastic members of the larger members of the EU – are planning closer ties.

They want to have an even tighter political union than the one we have now – the one that is increasingly to the dislike of actual voters, if not some of their politicians.

And while this is going on, the Prime Minister invites the European Commission president

Jean-Claude Juncker to Chequers for an entirely pointless photo opportunity.

On the face of it, David Cameron opened negotiations for Britain's future relationship with Europe.

But what he hopes to achieve is anyone's guess – because he's certainly not telling us yet.

Mr Cameron has, in any case, already indicated that in any future referendum he would campaign to stay in the EU.

Biscuits

And to be a member of the EU means to have unrestricted freedom of movement between member states – which is simply another way of saying "uncontrolled immigration".

So, on the one hand we've got the PM pretending he recognises the will of the British people to finally have a say on our membership of the EU.

On the other, he's offering tea and biscuits to Europe's most senior figure and fully intending to campaign to stay in.

Bear in mind he wouldn't have even considered a referendum if it were not for the steady rise of UKIP.

Then we have the Labour group, which until May 7 was resolutely against the idea of an in-out vote.

You may have forgotten – and Labour would now like you to – Tony Blair being wheeled out to say a referendum was a bad idea, presenting the notion that mere members of the public could not be trusted to vote the right way.

But that was until May 7, when those same members of the public waved Labour on their way for another five years.

So now they're tripping over themselves to say a referendum would actually be the best thing since sliced bread and it can't come along quickly enough.

I'm not alone in finding this U-turn quite astonishing – and insulting to Labour voters too.

Meanwhile, the European project continues to crumble in the eyes of everyone bar its most ardent supporters.

UKIP will be at the epicentre of the referendum debate.

And do you know why? Because we started it in the first place.

WHAT'S ANNOYING HIM THIS WEEK?

Death on line sicko should be derailed

AS a regular train user I'm used to the frustrations of delays.

And more than once during them I have muttered something under my breath that most probably wouldn't be appropriate in a church.

No one in their right mind wants to be stuck in an overcrowded carriage any longer than they need to be.

But on Friday a member of staff of First Great Western trains made an announcement that took the breath away of even the grumpiest of passengers.

The 16:36 service from London's Paddington to Plymouth was slowed down because of an event between Slough and Reading.

Explaining there had been a death on the line and the delays caused by it, the female announcer added that the hold-ups were "because someone couldn't be bothered to live anymore".

Passengers hearing this were understandably stunned.

Their Bank Holiday weekend was no doubt as important to them as to the rest of us, but was this in any way appropriate?

Of course not.

It was a statement that was beyond crass – words from the rotten mouth of an absolute cretin.

One has to hope the staff member involved is now in fact an ex-staff member.

But who knows? These days organisations like to trot out a press release offering a trite apology with a nod to the notion of "lessons have been learned".

A young mental health nursing student, Esmée Phillips, was on board the train at the time and was understandably furious.

She took her anger onto Twitter, posting: "Having a member of staff compare a family's loss to people losing out on holidays is a disgrace."

I'd say it was even more than a disgrace. It was outrageous.

This flippant remark was after all about someone whose mentality was so torn that they threw themselves under a train.

Can you even begin to imagine the strangling torment that takes you there?

Disease

I live near a railway, and there has recently been a similar fatality involving a schoolchild.

These incidents never fail to shock to the core and God only knows what it does to a family.

To casually dismiss such a death as "because someone couldn't be bothered to live anymore" is beyond all comprehension.

We don't yet know about this tragic individual's circumstances but surely their life – and the manner of their death – is of more consequence than people getting home in time for tea.

This column has written about depression before but it can never be hammered home enough.

It is the number one killer of men under 50 which silently affects a significant proportion of our population.

It is an invisible, vice-like grip that you can't just "get over" or "shake off" and is as much of a killing disease as cancer.

I admire the passengers on the 16:36 who expressed their anger towards the train announcer.

Perhaps First Great Western could now be "bothered" to consider sacking her.

Oasis Noel:
I will never forgive Liam
for quitting

EX Oasis guitarist Noel Gallagher has said he will never forgive his brother for walking out on the band during a series of live shows six years ago.

The solo star ruled out an Oasis reunion following the dispute with the Britpop band's then-frontman Liam on tour in 2009.

Noel, who eventually walked out of Oasis after regular rows with his lead singer bro, was responsible for most of the band's hits – including Live Forever and Wonderwall.

The warring brothers have repeatedly been asked to comment on the prospect of a reunion – particularly at Glastonbury festival.

But recalling the 2009 tour, Noel said: "You would have to go out and say in English to a load of perplexed Japanese people, 'I know you don't understand what I am fking saying, but the singer has gone off, so I am going to sing the fking rest'.

"I could never forgive him for that – ever."

Wall of Death riders rushed to hospital

TWO stunt motorcyclists have been taken to hospital after colliding in mid-air at a circus.

Audience members had to be evacuated after the crash at Uncle Sam's Great American Circus in Chantry Park, Ipswich.

The men were riding a Wall of Death when the accident happened.

Medics from East Anglia Air Ambulance treated the riders before they were taken to Ipswich Hospital.

They were last night said to be stable.

The circus later posted a statement on its Facebook page saying: "To all our audience from the 4.30pm show today, we would just like to thank you all for your support during the accident with our thunderball riders.

"We want to thank you for your understanding as we cut short the show."

PREMIER LEAGUE SHOCKER

'He was moving from one girl to another all night...he had sex with them all'

By WENDY THOMAS
news@sundaysport.co.uk

A HIGH profile Premier League footballer took part in an all-night SEX PARTY while on a Mediterranean break, we can reveal today.

The high class orgy was attended by some of the richest playboys, businessmen and sports stars in Europe as well as a host of beautiful women, including elite prostitutes.

The player, who cannot be named for legal reasons, is said to have indulged in a variety of sex acts with several of the women there.

He also "moved from one to another, having sex with all of them", according to another girl at the party on an island off the coast of Greece.

Anna Gilbert, who lives in Monaco, attended the kinky sex party with her boyfriend. The pair are regularly seen at high class swingers' parties across Europe and the UK.

Unzipped

But while his friends relaxed by the swimming pool, the unnamed athlete made a "significant booking" with an escort agency based nearby.

Anna, 23, says she recognised the footballer straight away when she arrived at the party.

She said: "I was quite surprised. There were a lot of people I recognised there, but this was the first time I had seen him at one of these parties.

"He seemed relaxed and didn't look nervous at all. He gave me the impression this was not the first time he had been to a sex get-together.

"It wasn't long before some of the girls were making a beeline for him. He seemed to enjoy the attention.

"One girl decided to make the first move and unzipped his trousers before taking him in her hand and massaging his cock, which was quite impressive.

"She then sank to her knees and took it in her mouth. No-one else batted an eyelid.

"There were guests behind them having threesome sex and them all'

couples getting it on all over the room, so it wasn't out of place.

"It was a turn-on. I was really horny watching it all, and it wasn't long before me and my boyfriend joined in with a couple from Austria. It was awesome.

"But I still kept one eye on this guy. During the night, he moved from one girl to another and his energy levels were incredible. He had sex with them all.

"At one point I saw him go to the living room, where four girls were drinking posh champagne.

"I saw through the door. All four of them were all over him and he was loving every minute.

"I'm not sure what his manager would say, but at that point I don't think he cared. He was having too much fun.

"I was quite impressed. He lasted for ages and during the night had sex with loads of girls in LOTS of different positions.

"He was moving from one girl to another all night long!"

The player is believed to have been abroad with permission from his club, but it is unlikely they would have sanctioned a visit to a sex party.

A league source said last night: "It doesn't appear any rules were broken. This was a young man on leave from his club just having a good time. I don't see a problem with it."

"Whether his club would agree though is a different matter!"

Gambon lands Churchill role in TV drama

HARRY Potter star Sir Michael Gambon will play prime minister Winston Churchill in a new ITV drama about his final years in office as his health declined.

The 74-year-old British actor will appear with Lindsay Duncan, who plays his wife Clementine, in the one-off film Churchill's Secret.

It is being shot at Churchill's principal country home of Chartwell in Kent.

The two-hour drama is set during the summer of 1953 when the then-peacetime prime minister had a stroke, which was kept secret from the world.

It will also be broadcast on PBS in the US next year.

ITV director of drama Steve November said: "Churchill's Secret is the extraordinary and compelling story of how one of our country's most famous political figures battled back from life-threatening illness to hold on to power."

Greg: Day I lost my 'dad'
Rik Mayall

COMEDY actor Greg Davies has told of his painful year after both his father and the man who played his on-screen dad – Rik Mayall – passed away.

The Young Ones star Davies, 47, told Radio Times magazine: "My dad died a couple of months after Rik... it was a difficult year."

"It's a unique set of circumstances. It was incredibly sad. I was very close to my dad."

Mayall played Davies' father in the Channel 4 sitcom Man Down and the former drama teacher said he would never have considered getting anyone else to play him.

Greg said: "Rik was the dream casting for me. He was a childhood hero, and I look like him. And he was beloved, as you saw when he died."

"The adoration poured out for him. So never for a second did I think, 'That's OK, we'll just get another dad in'."

Davies decided to substitute the dad character with an eccentric aunt for the second series.

Charl beefs up... 'I look like Popeye'

HOLLYWOOD scorch Charlize Theron says filming her latest flick left her looking like Popeye!

The 39-year-old stars as Furiosa in new movie Mad Max: Fury Road.

And because she's the lead in an action flick she says she had to beef up to make her fight scenes more realistic.

She said: "I don't usually work much on my upper body because I already look like a man."

"I did do some work for this though, I did a lot of push-ups and weights."

"But I neglected the bottom part so much I could hardly walk up a flight of stairs."

"I looked a bit like Popeye – weird strong muscles up top and nothing down below."

"But I hate seeing scrawny girls in action movies hitting guys four times their size and you're supposed to believe it."

BATTLE-SCARRED Kris Jenner has found good vibes again – thanks to a horde of SEX TOYS.

The Kardashian-Jenner matriarch, 59, has been having problems coping with her divorce from hubby Bruce – and him becoming a WOMAN.

But a box of vibrators seems to have done the trick to cheer her up.

Kris came across them while rooting through boxes of the couple's old belongings in a new episode of Keeping Up With The Kardashians – starring alongside her rarely famous daughter Kim.

She says sadly: "Going through all these photos, and looking at all this memorabilia, definitely brings up a lot of emotion.

Erotic

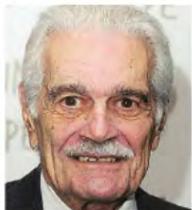

"I don't know what's going to happen. All I can do is be there for my kids, and we just have to stick together as a family."

But her feelings suddenly perk up when she comes across a box of vibrators sent by an erotic toy company.

A letter from the firm says: "I was recently watching your show and saw you had a segment on spicing up your marriage.

"I have included our newest line of seamless waterproof medical-grade silicone vibrators."

And Kris fists the air and shouts in delight: "I want the vibrators! I just hit the vibrator jackpot!"

As Ronaldo gets close with Italian model, we reveal the soccer superstar's sexiest conquests...

all scored with Ronnie!

By NEIL GOODWIN
neil@sundaysport.co.uk

TRICKY winger Cristiano Ronaldo has used his silky skills to bag yet another stunning girlfriend.

And one look at his past conquests prove he's the top SCORER in world football!

The Real Madrid ace's new squeeze is sexy Italian model Alessia Tedeschi, a former Miss Italy 2011 finalist.

The 24-year-old brunette set tongues wagging after posting snaps online showing her being chauffeur-driven to Real Madrid's Santiago Bernabeu stadium to meet-up with Ronaldo.

But she's now being hounded on Twitter by the forward's army of die-hard female admirers.

One told her: "Your ass hole is smelly. Are you sleep with many man? Stay away from Cris."

Former Manchester United great Ronaldo, 30, has been single since splitting with Russian pin-up Irina Shayk, 29.

And in the past the Portuguese goal wonder has also been linked with a string of top-drawer babes – including Brit soap star Gemma Atkinson, 30.

Lennon letter could have changed my life

A MUSICIAN who got a letter from John Lennon 34 YEARS after it was sent has revealed his regret at not getting it earlier.

The former Beatle wrote to Steve Tilston (above) after reading an interview with him in ZigZag music magazine, in which he said getting rich could compromise his artistic integrity.

Lennon told him that "being rich doesn't change your experience in the way you think" and that "emotions and relationships are the same as anybody's. I know, I've been rich and poor, so has Yoko. Whadya think of that?"

The story is the basis of the new film Danny Collins, starring Al Pacino as a former pop lothario who wants to change his life after belatedly receiving the letter.

Tilston, now 65 and a respected musician and songwriter, said: "What's painful is that it's a road not taken."

"All of us in our lives are faced with choices of ways to go. What I resented, but don't any more, is that with this, I didn't get the choice."

Tilston received the letter in 2005 "out of the blue" from a US collector.

HOLLYWOOD BABE'S EMBARRASSMENT

I've been fingered!

BLOKES RECOGNISE ME... FROM MY W*NKING SCENES

By NEIL GOODWIN
neil@sundaysport.co.uk

HOLLYWOOD hottie Ashley Hinshaw has admitted she gets paranoid that everyone has seen her MASTURBATING!

The blonde actress's bean-flicking scenes came in 2012 flick About Cherry.

And Ashley, 26, says she finds it weird how some male admirers try to chat her up by telling her they loved watching it!

The babe – who starred in sci-fi smash Chronicle – admitted: “When men come up and say, ‘I loved you in About Cherry’, that’s definitely the worst.

“There’s no way to say that without sounding creepy.

“There’s absolutely no way for a guy to come up to me and be like, ‘I loved your work in that film’, and me not think, ‘Oh great, you’ve seen me masturbate’.

“It’s really not very comfortable when it happens in a grocery store. It’s like, ‘Uh, thank you? You seem a bit creepy right now...’”

The stunner IS happy, however, when fans tell her how much they love new horror flick The Pyramid, which features Inbetweeners star James Buckley.

Ashley added: “I’m so happy people responded positively to it.

“Horror fans are very critical, so I was super happy about that.”

WAS BB KILLED?

Cops won't probe family's claims

POLICE have ruled out an investigation into the death of BB King after claims by his family that he had been murdered.

Two of his daughters say that King's two closest aides poisoned their father.

But lieutenant Ray Steiber said any police action would depend on the findings of results of forensic tests, which will take up to eight weeks.

Coroner John Fudenberg insisted there was no evidence to support allegations made by his daughters, Karen Williams and Patty King.

Poisoned

The girls claim the blues guitarist's business manager LaVerne Toney and personal assistant Myron Johnson killed King, who died in Vegas earlier this month, aged 89.

The lawyer for King's estate, Brent Bryson, blasted their claims as "ridiculous", adding

By HAZEL GROVE

news@sundaysport.co.uk

three separate doctors had determined King was properly cared for by medical professionals "up until the time that he peacefully passed away in his sleep".

Williams and King's daughters say that Toney – named in King's will as executor of an estate worth tens of millions of dollars – stopped them from visiting King.

The daughters said: "We believe our father was poisoned. We believe he was murdered."

Linsey Dawn McKenzie

SHE'S BRITAIN'S ONLY TOPLESS COLUMNIST

The reality is, they don't look happy,
do they?

SO reality TV star Mark Wright has finally married Michelle Keegan.

And apparently Mark "broke down in tears" when Michelle arrived at the church – about half-an-hour later than planned.

Maybe he was just relieved she turned up at all!

God, he's so bloody soft it makes me SICK!

He cried on Strictly Come Dancing, and now he blubs at his own wedding.

Man the fk up, Mark!

But that wasn't the only big story of the day...

Apparently, security was on "high alert" in case Mark's ex-girlfriend Lauren Goodger gatecrashed the wedding.

I don't think Lauren would actually have done that but she DID disrupt things on social media last weekend.

She posted a picture suggesting that Mark would REGRET marrying Michelle instead of her.

Lauren apparently thinks she's still 'the one' but says they just met when they were too young.

Well, a lot of people are accusing her of being bitter... and to be honest, she does sound it.

But I think she has a point. I don't reckon Mark and Michelle will go the distance – sorry, guys!

They don't strike me as a happy couple when I see them out with each other and that is a bad sign in my opinion.

Maybe I'm wrong, but perhaps Lauren is right! Watch this space... I predict a stormy time ahead.

Follow me on Twitter
@linsey_dawn

MY Twitter feed was exploding last week with this year's Eurovision Song Contest.

I didn't watch it – I never bother. I always think 'what's the bloody point?' Even with boobs like Germany's Ann Sophie (above) on show, it's SO desperate.

I just don't get it... why is there a song competition for Europe? I'd seriously like to know.

It's supposed to be the BEST singers and songs from each country, but they're always crap.

It might be relevant if people actually bought the winning song. But they don't. I can't even name a winning song from the last 10 years.

The whole things reminds me of a sleazy nightclub talent show.

It's about time they just dumped it. It's a waste of fking airtime.

X Factor with Nick?
That'd be GRIM!

RADIO 1 DJ Nick Grimshaw would be a disaster as a judge on The X Factor.

The 30-year-old (right) is rumoured to be Louis Walsh's replacement this year.

Personally, I hope he doesn't get the job – I can't stand the guy.

But here's the important reason he shouldn't be on the ITV reality show – what does he really know about singing?

He's a DJ – he pushes buttons for a bloody living and sits behind a microphone all morning.

My verdict?
He's unqualified.
There are LOTS of other great candidates to replace Louis.

My dream panel would be Mark Ronson, Adele, Cheryl Fernandez-Versini and Simon Cowell.

I'm a huge fan of Adele's – I think she's got a fantastic voice so would justify sitting on the panel.

And Mark Ronson is a great producer and songwriter. He's British, well-connected and knows how to write a pop song. Sorry, Grimmy, you're just not in his league.

IT'S been an awful week. My darling son Luca was involved in a serious car accident in Surrey last week when he was being picked up from school. Thankfully, he is doing better now. But he's very, very lucky.

He escaped with minor injuries, whiplash and a cut on his leg. Sadly, the driver was seriously hurt and Luca's chaperone suffered broken ribs and a broken arm.

Doctors told me the seatbelt saved Luca's life. Please remember, it's so important to wear your seatbelt, even if you're sitting in the back seat.

It's been a few days now and my son is still scared to get into a car.

That sort of fear stays with you for a long time. Friends who have been in serious car accidents tell me that.

The police said they were "amazed" that he walked away with only cuts and bruises.

And after I saw the wrecked car, I couldn't help thinking that something was protecting Luca.

We really are blessed.

It's ParARSE Hilton!

TOP TRUMPER:
Paris gets cheeky in her new music video

By NEIL GOODWIN
neil@sundaysport.co.uk

POP babe Paris Hilton says her new video is "sexual" – and by the look of these exclusive pics, we're not going to argue!

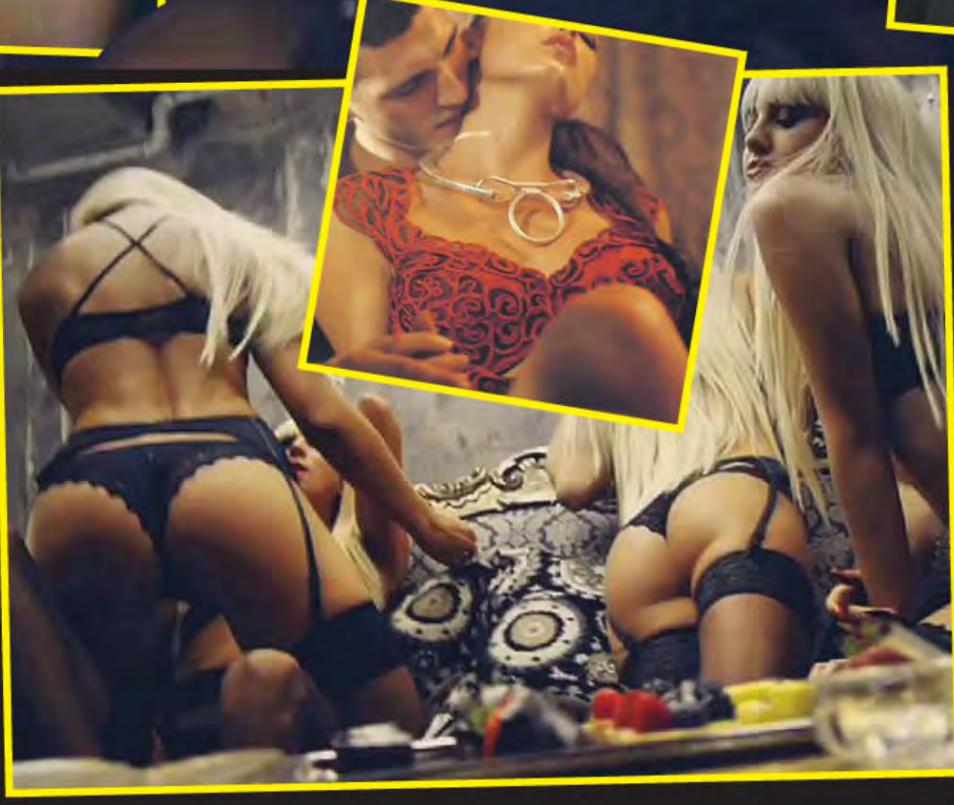

The blonde socialite is having another crack at the charts after her first album release in 2006.

And Paris – who made her name with a homemade PORNO – has unleashed her sauciest promo yet, writhing around in kinky lingerie for new single High Off My Love.

The Yank beauty, 34, said: "I wanted to do a very sexual video. I loved Madonna's Justify My Love, so I just mixed that with Fifty Shades of Grey.

"I had a lot of S&M outfits, a lot of male models, and a lot of people making out. It's very sexy. "It's the new sexy Paris. It's the first time I've been single, so I've never been able to do a music video like that because I've always had a boyfriend on set being like, 'No, you're not doing that!'

"But now I'm single I can do whatever I want."

'Scissors
penis snip' crimper is cleared

A HAIRDRESSER accused of slicing her boyfriend's penis with a pair of SCISSORS has walked free from court after he refused to testify against her.

Helen Smith, 48, allegedly snipped boyfriend Stuart Cooper in the genitals last August. Smith (above), from Cardenden, Fife, denied the charges and was due to face trial at Dunfermline Sheriff Court yesterday.

But her former partner failed to turn up to the hearing having been "reluctant" for the case to go forward, it was claimed.

Prosecuting, Azra Yousaff tried to adjourn the case due to his absence.

But that failed when Smith's lawyer revealed she'd received a letter from Cooper pleading for the case to be dropped.

"I have a letter that the complainer wrote to my firm," she said.

"He said he made no complaint or statement, and he had no wish for the matter to proceed."

She also claimed the "enormous pressure due to media coverage" on Smith had left her unable to work.

CHARLI XC-XXX

Singer: My hotel porn obsession

By NEIL GOODWIN

neil@sundaysport.co.uk

BRIT pop babe Charli XCX has confessed her love of HARDCORE PORN!

The busty Boom Clap singer says ogling some top-notch grot is often the first thing she does when she arrives at a hotel.

The 22-year-old – real name Charlotte Aitchison – name-checked a popular bongo movie website when she said: “It’s not like I arrive in a new hotel room and immediately open up RedTube.

“But I will if I need to.”

The warbler isn’t afraid of bodily fluids either, describing how she recently chucked her guts up into a designer handbag while on her tour bus – because she couldn’t be ARSED to go to the onboard loo!

Luxury

She revealed: “I was just like, ‘I can’t be bothered to go downstairs, so I picked up my designer handbag and thought, ‘Let’s just go for this.’”

“I threw up in it three times – a luxury brand had just gifted it to me.”

Meanwhile the babe says being a nipple-baring chart topper isn’t always all it’s cracked up to be.

She added: “I’m not going to lie and say everything is amazing – because sometimes it’s really fking tough.”

“I’m not good at being a picture-perfect pop star – happy all the time. “If I’m having a bad day, I can’t pretend. I’m always a bit unhappy.”

Pretty Chloe has laid into Essex co-stars who has Botox ends up looking the same.

“I don’t think you should change the way you look.”

A TOWIE insider last night added: “This is going to cause havoc.”

“She was just being honest but some of the girls are going to see this as ‘bitchiness’.”

“Just because she’s got nice boobs doesn’t mean everyone is blessed that way.”

“I prefer natural boobs.”

She also had a go at girls having Botox injections, saying: “Everyone

THE ONLY WAY IS NATURAL FOR CHLOE

TOWIE newcomer Chloe Lewis has slammed her co-stars for having FAKE BREASTS!

The 24-year-old boasts a pair of big all-natural busters – unlike some of her fellow Essex co-stars.

Chloe Sims, Jessica Wright, Lauren Pope and Lauren Goodger have all gone under the knife to have their chests enhanced.

But they are sure to be annoyed at sexy Chloe slamming their “plastic” boobs.

She said: “There’s always a bit of competition when it comes to our bodies. I don’t care what anyone says. I know I worry about my body – most girls do.

“I’m not the smallest of girls on the show.”

“All the girls have got good bodies but I’m not too fussed about the idea of having boob implants, which a lot of the girls have.”

“I prefer natural boobs.”

She also had a go at girls having Botox injections, saying: “Everyone

True Det boobs out Alex shock at rise to fame

TRUE Detective babe Alexandra Daddario says it was “strange” how her TOPLESS debut made her an overnight sensation.

The busty blonde (above) bared her enormous boobs while romping with co-star Woody Harrelson in the Sky Atlantic murder mystery.

And while most viewers won’t be surprised about her meteoric rise to fame, it still leaves the 29-year-old puzzled.

Speaking about her scorching-hot nude scenes, she admitted: “I’m pretty liberal, but it is a little strange.”

“For a lot of people, those scenes were the first time they noticed me in something.”

“But Woody was so charming and great. And he’s been doing this forever.”

And New York-born Alexandra revealed she has also become a hippie since moving to Hollywood.

She added: “I’ve become very spiritual about the whole acting thing. It’s a Zen Buddhist approach. Combined with an intense, ferocious ambition.”

KELLY'S £10M BOOBS!

She insures her prize assets for biggest amount in showbiz history

By TOM RHODES

news@sundaysport.co.uk

KELLY Brook is to insure her bra-bustin' BOOBS for an incredible £10MILLION, we can EXCLUSIVELY reveal.

The ex-glamour model acted after her U.S. sitcom One Big Happy flopped — despite her appearing fully TOPLESS in the first episode.

Sources claim Kelly then held "emergency meetings" with top lawyers.

Kelly, 35, from Rochester but now living in Los Angeles, reportedly told pals she now wants to "protect her assets" as she considers future projects. She has already signed a megabucks deal with insurance company Lloyd's of London, according to insiders.

A close friend said: "Kelly desperately wanted to be taken seriously as an actress, but now she's considering her options."

"Whatever she decides, she knows that her boobs are her fortune - she needs to protect them."

Care home sex predator 'had half the boys'

A FEMALE worker at a care home for troubled teen boys has been accused of having sex with half of them.

Katherine Estep, 44 (above), faces a total of 12 charges in a scandal involving five boys. She is said to have touched all the lads' genitals, given oral sex to three and flashed her breasts to one while forcing him to touch them.

Prosecutors say Estep held a position of special trust with the 16 and 17-year-olds which allowed her to "exercise undue influence" over them.

And court files say: "Estep coerced or enticed the young men into cooperating with her with these sexual acts."

She allegedly also let some of the lads use her mobile phone and electronic cigarette and gave them sweets and pills.

Estep faces 17 charges including forcible sodomy and sexual abuse at The Journey Impact Ranch in Mona, Utah.

All the boys there have been moved to other facilities.

Sheen: I was powerless to help Charlie

HOLLYWOOD star Martin Sheen has told how he felt "powerless" to help his troubled son Charlie during his public meltdown.

Charlie, 49, was the highest paid actor on TV before he was spectacularly fired from hit show Two And A Half Men over his erratic behaviour.

Dad Martin, 74, said: "What he was going through at that time, we were powerless to do much except pray for him and lift him up."

The West Wing star added: "You have to be aware of the circumstances. You have to be aware of things that the public are not aware of, that this is a very lonely man in a very desperate situation.

"Only those of us who knew him understood what was going on.

"I'm talking about steroids, at that time.

"He was in a very desperate situation and he was doing what he felt would get him out of it - going public.

"It was very painful for all of us."

Disney animals stripped bare!

DISNEY are gearing up for their first "nude scene", says a top studio boss.

New Disney Pixar flick Zootopia imagines an Earth where humans never happened.

Instead the animals have taken over, walking upright while taking charge of things like law enforcement.

And studio supremo John Lasseter revealed some of them decided to throw off their clothes!

The 58-year-old said: "The world is modern and civilised and the animals stand up straight.

"There's a club where animals have rejected clothes and returned to a natural way of life.

"This is Disney animation's first nude scene. It's been a long time coming."

BABES IN THE MOVIES

Your guide to the perfect sex party

Chantelle Ford
Age 19, 32c-24-34 from Hull

By JOSEPH SCRIMSHIRE

joseph@sundaysport.co.uk

NOOKIE experts have issued an X-rated guide to WOMEN looking to attend their first SEX PARTY.

More and more private shag soirees are taking place across the UK, with firms like Killing Kittens and Pure Pleasure Parties offering no-strings bonk bashes for experimental adults.

And if your missus is keen, but nervous, about taking part, top adult website Lelo.com is here to help!

They've put forward a five-step guide to making your orgy debut.

First up is 'Get Your Sexy Right'.

A spokeswoman said: "Looking sexy will make you feel more confident than you may actually be, so go ahead and find yourself an outfit that will make you look and feel amazing – no matter how many layers of it you may actually have on."

"The best policy when attending any event, sex-themed or not, is to just ask the host what the dress code is. Guaranteed, you won't be the only person asking."

You should also 'learn the rules', with the expert also advising: "Whether you're looking to play with men or women, you can't assume that someone's presence at a sexy party means they are willing to do everything with anyone."

"Some people might be attending with a partner with whom they are only allowed to do things together, or might only be allowed to watch."

It's important to 'set your boundaries' but to have 'an open mind'.

Meanwhile there's no better foreplay, say Lelo.com, than a good conversation.

Willing

They added: "Chat, mingle, work the room – if you're looking to get another invitation, making an impression will help."

And most important of all is to hide your nervousness.

The spokeswoman said: "The best people at a sexy party, or any party, are welcoming and willing to have a chat and a laugh."

"By presenting a relaxed demeanour, you'll put other people at ease and make them want to be around you, whether it's their first time or their 50th."

Beautiful brunette Chantelle Ford (left) is yet to visit a sex party, but she's eager to give it a whirl.

The 19-year-old said: "I've got a few friends who went to a high class sex party while they were in Ibiza, and they all said it was mind-blowing."

"I am interested in giving it a try, but at the same time I'm really nervous."

"I think I'd have to take a boyfriend with me, and maybe just watch and take it all in on the first time."

"And who knows, maybe I'd have sex with a stranger on the second attempt!"

Holby Titty!

By WENDY THOMAS
news@sundaysport.co.uk

YOU'LL feel a rush of blood to your COCK after watching the latest episode of Holby City.

Because the BBC medical drama – available now on demand – features an incredible TOPLESS beauty!

Kaye Wragg, from Stockport, plays staff nurse Estelle "Essie" Harrison at Holby General Hospital.

But we can EXCLUSIVELY reveal that the 43-year-old actress went FULL FRONTAL in posh drama In A Land of Plenty.

The 2001 TV series follows three generations of the industrialist Freeman family – and Kaye played the cook's sexy daughter, Laura.

And in one SIZZLING scene, she strips NAKED and rubs herself while admiring her body in the mirror.

Holby City airs Tuesday nights at 8pm. Catch up with yesterday's episode on BBC iPlayer.

Guardians
Chris quits
Hollywood

MOVIE hunk Chris Pratt has announced shock plans to QUIT the bright lights of Tinseltown.

The Guardians of the Galaxy and Jurassic World actor (above) has a two-year-old son, Jack, with his actress missus Anna Faris.

But Chris, 35, says he doesn't want his lad growing up in Los Angeles.

He revealed: "I don't wanna raise Jack here. Anna and I are both from Washington State.

"We both had pretty simple lives and upbringings.

"I want Jack to just be able to be like, 'See ya buddy. Go outside. Come back later'.

"And also, I like the country and clean air and things just slowed down.

"I'd like to give him some normalcy.

"It's gonna be weird for him to have famous parents.

"It's gonna be a burden for him sometimes, you know?

"But it's all relative."

Castle babes' sex romps

STANA KATIC

TAMALA JONES

TWO sizzling stars of mystery drama Castle have saucy LESBIAN pasts!

The hit U.S. show follows bestselling crime writer Rick Castle, who works with New York police officers to solve unusual murders.

And tonight's episode, at 9pm on Alibi, involves the grisly death of a local toymaker.

Canadian actress Stana Katic, 36, who plays NYPD detective Kate Beckett, went TOPLESS during a lesbo romp in 2007 drama Feast of Love.

And Tamala Jones, 40, who plays medical examiner Lanie Parish, also starred as nympho housewife Tory Adams in trashy made-for-TV flick Confessions of a Call Girl back in 2006.

I'd take on the full team in the changing room!'

BUSTY Dani Maye could well be the world's best footie mascot - because she dreams of bonking a FULL TEAM of players in the changing room!

The blonde pin-up and porn star is no stranger to rude antics.

But the 24-year-old still has one unfulfilled

By NEIL GOODWIN
neil@sundaysport.co.uk

dream - getting hot and sweaty with a group of post-match lads. The 34E glamour babe, from Kingston, Surrey, revealed: "I like to be the submissive one and have no control whatsoever. "I love the feeling of not being in control. It's a real turn-on, especially when he's being really demanding.

"I've had sex in a few really crazy places, such as underneath a bridge on the M25 - when we weren't even in a car!

"But there is somewhere I haven't shagged that I'd love to try.

"This might sound a bit strange, but I really fancy doing it in a men's changing room at a sports club.

Like in the locker room at a golf club. Or, even better, in the changing room at a football club.

"I think it'd be really naughty to have sex with a guy while all the men are on the pitch.

"The thought of all those dirty, sweaty fellas going in there afterwards to change really does it for me. And if they're lucky, the players and I can all have a bit of an orgy at full time when the match has finished!"

Dani is also hiding a saucy fetish.

She explained: "I love having my feet played with during sex. It feels amazing - the tickling sensation turns me on.

"It's just gets me going every time!"

Our sex life's got a hole lot better!

Dear Jaymie,

ME and the missus have been married for 10 years, but we've never been that bothered about sex.

Like most people, we were fking like rabbits the first couple of months, then it sort of petered out.

But I was reading the Midweek Sport when I saw an article which described shagging in the doggy-style position.

I asked a work colleague what it meant and he explained it was doing it from behind – like a rampant dog.

Anyway, when I got home from work that night I suggested to the missus that we have an early night – and she agreed.

We went upstairs, stripped off and dived under the duvet.

She gave me a quick gobble to get my knob erect and I licked her pussy to get her juices flowing.

Then I asked her to get on all fours on the bed. She looked at me quizzically, but I explained about doggy-style and she agreed to give it a go.

Speed

She got on her hands and knees and I rammed my rock-hard dick up her flue and began pounding her hard.

But as I began to speed up, my knob slipped out and flew up her poo-pipe.

She howled and I thought I had hurt her, so I stopped. But she asked me to get it back in quick because she loved it.

I did as I was told and she set off howling again. Shortly after, I had the most amazing orgasm and collapsed on top of her.

We lay there for a while and then she told me she'd heard of anal sex but never fancied it.

However, she said that it was so good she wanted to try it again.

A couple of minutes later we were at it again – and this time I reached around and began flicking her clit until she climaxed again.

Now we have doggy-style and anal every night. What are your thoughts on doggy-style and anal?

DP, East London

Jaymie says...

THAT'S a very personal question to ask a lady, so I will keep my answer short and sweet. That's for me to know and you to find out – which you never will!

Dear Jaymie,

I RECENTLY moved to a new house and my neighbour, a tasty sort in her late 30s, soon introduced herself.

She invited me to a quiz night at the local boozier with her and two mates. I thought I'd have a good chance of pulling her, so I said yes.

When I got there her mates were at the bar. They were also late 30s, blonde and sexy.

It soon became clear that they were not interested in the quiz – they wanted me.

I invited them back and they took turns to suck me off. I shagged all three before they got down to some lesbo fun. It was great to watch them sucking each other's tits and clits.

To finish, my neighbour stuck a dildo up my arse while I took one of her mates from behind as she licked her pal out.

We don't go to the quiz nights now, they just come to my place and we fk.

I'm so glad I moved and several of my mates are now looking for houses here.

JY, Essex

Jaymie says...

I BET they are. The only question these naughty ladies will know how to answer is: "Do you want it up the arse or fanny?"

It's good, clean fun

Dear Jaymie,

I'VE become a bit obsessive about cleanliness. I am so determined to be clean that I insisted we install a new shower.

I told my husband I had to have a walk-in shower room and the work would cost a couple of grand.

He was dead against it, but after a few sexual favours – blowjobs and anal – he finally agreed.

We had it installed and, apart from being well-scrubbed all the time, it's transformed our sex life.

We've been shagging like randy teenagers. We christened the shower as soon as the tiles were set and now have rampant sex under the powerful, pulsing jets of water every day.

I particularly love it when I perform a handstand and my hubby goes down on me.

But I have become addicted to showering and shower gel is costing me a fortune. Any ideas on how to keep the cost down?

KL, Middlesex

Jaymie says...

SUD IT! If sex is that good, it must be worth it. What's an extra couple of pounds on your shopping bill if you're having so much fun?

Dear Jaymie,

I'M a 17-year-old apprentice with an engineering firm and after getting in the works' footie team I was the top scorer.

As a result, the captain invited me on his stag weekend in Dublin. There were 20 of us and we all pulled a bird on the first night.

My girl was 24 and after we'd been at the stout we staggered back to our hotel, where she smuggled me up to her room.

She stripped to her panties. I groped and sucked her tits, which were an F-cup.

Then she went down on me and gave me the best blowjob I'd ever had before spreading her legs to show me her wet lips.

I was down there like a rat down a hole. Then I turned her over and whacked it into her doggy-style.

After half-an-hour we both screamed as we came and collapsed in exhaustion.

But since I got back to England I've been getting lots of texts from her saying she wants to come over and move in with me. But I live with my mum. What should I do?

NM, Kent

Jaymie says...

TELL her the truth. You don't owe this girl anything – she enjoyed herself as much as you.

Dear Jaymie,

I'M trying like crazy to get my window cleaner to roger me stupid.

I always make sure that when he calls round I'm wearing something that is bound to catch his eye – tight jeans, loose-fitting tops.

I've even come to the door in a dressing gown and let it slip open so he can see my shaven gash.

When I pay him I always rub my firm 34D breasts up against his manly chest.

I know it turns him on as his trousers bulge – and he looks a big boy in all areas.

I'm that desperate to bed him that next time he calls for his cash, I'm going to answer the door completely naked and begin fingering my fanny.

He's a 6ft 4in hunk and I can't understand why he's not made a move.

Have you any idea what I could do to pull, as I'm getting so frustrated?

WS, Somerset

Letter of the day

Jaymie says...

HAVE you ever considered he just might not fancy you? But I'm sure that's not the case. I think you're trying too hard. Try playing it cool and I'm sure he'll give you a squeegee.

SHOW ME THE HONEY!

WELCOME to the interactive Midweek Sport – where YOU get to choose the stunnas appearing on these pages!

That's right fellas, we publish sexy snaps of the babes you most want to see – TOPLESS or even NAKED.

Every Wednesday, Show Me The Honey features the cute curves of the glamour girls you're clamouring for. This service – UNIQUE to British newspapers – is totally FREE!

All you have to do is drop us an email to request@sundaysport.co.uk telling us why you want to see your favourite girl, then sit back and let us do the rest...

NATALIA FORREST

NAUGHTY Natalia Forrest is the choice of Kenilworth accountant Pete Draper, 23.

He reckons Natalia, from Shrewsbury, looks priceless in a pair of knickers!

And he's DESPERATE to see another picture of the 26-year-old's splendid curves.

He told us: "I've always preferred glamour models with smaller boobs."

"So it's pretty obvious why Natalia is among my favourites."

"I haven't seen her in the paper for ages, though. Would you mind printing a topless photo for me?"

"Much appreciated."

KATE DARCY

BARNESLEY brickie George Hoskins reckons Kate Darcy is "the all-time best Sport model".

The 56-year-old told us that Kate's bra-bustin' 32DD boobs are the best in the business!

Kate, 24, from Hartlepool, hasn't been in the paper for a couple of years, but George reckons she's still the pick of the bunch.

He told us: "It would be great to see her again."

SKYE MICHELLE

PRESTON betting shop worker Jimmy Handsworth would love to go DOWN UNDER with Skye Michelle!

The 41-year-old says that Skye, from north Queensland, Australia, is one his favourite imports.

She did an EXCLUSIVE photoshoot for the Sport a few years ago, but now works for adult magazines back in Oz.

Jimmy told us: "It's a real shame Skye isn't modelling in the UK anymore – she's absolutely gorgeous!"

"But I make sure to get her magazines shipped over. Please print a pic for me – and all your other readers!"

SEX POLL

IF you live in a town with a large military presence your missus is more likely to be CHEATING on you, claims a controversial new survey.

By NEIL GOODWIN
neil@sundaysport.co.uk

and emotional connections when far away from home.

"Also, people who choose to serve in the military tend to be natural risk takers, making them more likely to take risks in their personal lives."

The site even polled 8,492 military personnel to discover why and when they have affairs, and with whom.

The majority – 68.6% of men and 63.2% of women – say affairs act as a form of stress release'.

A further 37.5% of men and 33.8% of women have affairs as a result of being separated from their spouse for extended periods of time.

A shag-happy 39.4% of men and 43.6% of women have affairs with other members of the military, while 31.6% of men and 37.1% of women prefer to cheat with civilians.

So do soldiers make good lovers? We asked three of our girls to find out:

I'VE never dated a soldier, but I did go out with one bloke who THOUGHT he was in the army just because he liked to watch war films and play Call of Duty on his Playstation!

It used to drive me mad. In fact, he spent so much time on the battlefields of his video game console that he completely forgot about me. I was totally neglected!

In the end, while he was fighting online, I went out and had sex with one of his best friends at a party.

Well, I reckoned it served him right. A woman's got needs, you know?

Car Bailey says...

I WAS on holiday in Magaluf last year and there was a big group of soldier boys who had all served in Afghanistan.

They were all absolutely gorgeous! A couple of them were married and, yes, they weren't exactly being faithful!

One of my female friends ended up having a threesome with two of them. One had a ring on his finger, but he didn't care one bit and neither did my pal.

We could hear them going at it through the bedroom walls and it sounded like they were shooting a porno.

An hour later the boys sloped off and my friend emerged from the bedroom with a bright red face, her hair all over the place.

She looked like she'd had a whale of a time!

FANCY a night on the lash with a red-hot Midweek Sport babe?

You will after hearing about Gemma Hiles's raunchy nightclub confession!

Because the 27-year-old says she always ends up FLASHING her massive 32E whoppers after a few drinks.

Gemma, from Preston, Lancs, admitted: "I love wearing skimpy clothes on a night out.

"I have slipped out and flashed my boobs in clubs before!"

"It happens literally every time – and I always get a big cheer from the lads!"

"But it's OK, because I love all the attention."

"And it's a great way to get free drinks, too!"

DNIPROV Dnipropetrovsk, bloomin' heck if you got that as a hand in Scrabble you would kick the table over in disgust.

For your information, Dnipropetrovsk or, if you like, Dnepropetrovsk, once known as just plain old Ekaterinoslav is Ukraine's fourth largest city, with about one million inhabitants.

It is 242 miles southeast of the capital Kiev on the Dnieper River, in the southern-central part of Ukraine.

Thanks to Wikipedia for that.

With just one game remaining, they lie third in the League but well adrift of more famous rivals Dynamo Kiev and Shakhtar Donetsk.

They celebrate their centenary in three years time having been formed in 1918 for the benefit of workers at an industrial college, the region being the home of the USSR metallurgy industry.

We know a bit more about tonight's rivals Sevilla and a big up to the Spanish lads for their delicious oranges.

SEVILLA v DNIPRO: WED, 7.45, ITV4

It might be a crazy name but Dnipro are no crazy side. They were twice champions while still part of the Soviet Union and were runners-up in the Ukraine last term.

But the comparative fame of the two sides is reflected in the match odds with Sevilla 8/15, Dnipro 11/2 and the draw 3/1.

If you want to back the Ukrainians you can take comfort from the fact they put out Napoli to reach tonight's final in Warsaw and the Italian side are no mugs.

Dnipro's top scorer is Nikola Kalinic (pictured) who has bagged 18 in all competitions this season.

You can have 10/1 about him being fastest off the mark tonight.

It is hard though to see Sevilla messing this up, especially with the winners being rewarded with a place in the Champions League for the first time this season.

They rounded off their Spanish League on Saturday with a stylish 3-2 win at Malaga, a victory which bagged them a finishing position of fifth place.

There is no fun in backing them at 8/15 so the correct score of 2-0 appeals at 6/1.

A win while keeping a clean sheet is 11/8 for Sevilla but that is a wager that has you gawping nervously at the screen from the first minute to the last.

Jose Antonio Reyes is in excellent form and the 7/1 about him as first goalscorer looks generous.

For a bit of small-stakes fun you can combine those two options for a Scorecast at 33-1.

Most Spanish sides aren't slow at proving gravity really does exist so it's interesting you can have 3/1 about there being a penalty awarded at some stage of the game.

That looks tall because it's surprising how often you do get a spot-kick in these big European finals. The ref likes to make sure his mum can see him on the telly after all.

BETS: Reyes and 2-0 Scorecast (33/1); Sevilla to win 2-0 (7-1).

GIVE THE LIVERPOOL JOB TO 25/1 CARRAGHER!

DESPITE what the club says, a 6-1 drubbing from Stoke City has surely sealed Brendan Rodgers fate at Liverpool.

It was the Kop's worst defeat in 52 years and the Reds were truly terrible.

When you consider some of the teams they have faced in winning five European Cups and umpteen other pots of silverware to have Stoke City turn them over so mercilessly and shatter that record is galling for the Anfield faithful.

No offence to City but they are hardly an AC Milan or a Borussia Moenchengladbach.

So the bookies are forming markets on who will follow Rodgers into the Liverpool hot seat.

And the eye-watering one is that Carlo

RAH'S PAL:
Carragher

Ancelotti is a general 33/1 yet Paddy Power are offering only 6/1.

Do the Irish lads know something the others do not?

Paddys make Rafa Benitez their evens favourite and the love affair between him and the Kop has always been mutual. But Real Madrid are also in the hunt which makes that price too small.

Juergen Klopp is second in at 2/1 but there are no odds for his brother Klipper!

Or an off the wall one, how about Jamie Carragher at 25/1. He's another of Liverpool's favourite sons and he has intimated he would take the job on. Oh the look on Raheem Sterling's face would be priceless as Carra turned the door. Knob.

Yolo to be the king

IT'S here, the wait is over and I'm like a kid on Christmas Eve waiting for the fat bloke dressed in red to drop off presents.

You guessed right, it's Derby time and I absolutely love it the Yanks can keep their Super Bowl there is nothing that comes close to the William Hill Greyhound Derby for me.

Just the 255 greyhounds are chasing the winners prize of £250,000 and you will get all your Derby information here for every single heat.

Pundits will be tipping four, five or even six greyhounds for Derby glory forget that have your money on one greyhound; Newinn Yolo at 33/1.

He is a machine and I'm super confident even though he's got a terrible first-round draw that come the June 27th Pat Rosney's greyhound will be crowned king of the greyhound world.

DERBY BETS

Newinn Yolo 33/1 each-way

Pat Rosney to train the winner 14/1

PAT ROSNEY ON NEWINN YOLO

"He is more suited to Wimbledon than Shawfield but he's got a terrible draw.

"I could not be happier with him, he is a terrific greyhound who can do it from the front or from behind which is always a good trait to have. So many greyhounds these days need to lead to win but he is not one of them but if he does lead it's all over with.

"I will take second place now tonight and be happy to qualify. Of my team I'd probably say he is the one who is the most likely but we have a strong team.

YOU KHAN DO IT AMIR

KHAN DO:
Hunter (right)
says Amir could be a world champ

But stop being a sucker, says Virgil

AMIR KHAN has been warned not to be a "sucker" again if he wants to become a ring great.

The Bolton ace has suffered some shock knockout losses after leaving himself open against Breidis Prescott and Danny Garcia, but has rescued his career with a string of brilliant performances.

The welterweight cannot afford any blunders when he faces Chris Algieri in a 12-round non-title fight in Brooklyn on Friday, with his career close to getting back on top of the world again.

Khan, 28, suffered his only other loss in 33 contests against Lamont Peterson but impressed against Luis Collazo and Devon Alexander last year.

Those impressive displays have finally put him in touching distance of a fight against Floyd Mayweather, and trainer Virgil Hunter admits he still reads the riot act.

Dominate

Hunter said: "If Amir truly wanted to be, he could be great so if I am upset with him.

"I am not upset with him because he didn't do what I wanted him to do, it's that there are certain things in him that should never happen.

"He should never get hit with a sucker punch any more.

"With his ability, his speed, his intelligence, he should dominate the welterweight division.

"It takes time, it takes hard work but that is what I am here for, the bar is set high because he has a gift.

"I don't want to sit around till I am 85 thinking that I failed this guy because all I wanted was a cheque, that I didn't say what I felt, that I didn't want to hurt his feelings instead of telling him like it was."

BOXING: By STEVE LILLIS

Hunter revealed that they even clashed last week at training camp with the former world light welterweight champ explaining: "I told him off because he made a couple of mistakes I didn't like.

"But instead of getting out and feeling sorry he did the next round and everything he did was perfect.

"It's not so much as Amir doing what I want, it's about him doing what I know he is capable of doing. It's never what I want.

"I need to make sure I can live with myself get the best out of him because he is such a special talent.

"Anybody who can go to the Olympics at 17 is for real and then go all the way to the final, that's serious stuff because you are fighting guys you have never seen before and you are just a kid."

MISSION: Bayliss

England job for Bayliss

CRICKET

ENGLAND have turned to an Aussie to help win back the Ashes.

New coach Trevor Bayliss will take charge of the Three Lions in time to take on his native Australia this summer.

Bayliss is known as a one-day specialist and he's had plenty of success with Sri Lanka and in his present job with New South Wales.

Caretaker coach Paul Farbrace will stay in charge for the New Zealand series and then be number two to Bayliss.

He said: "It's an honour to be appointed England coach.

"There's a great opportunity to help Alastair Cook and Eoin Morgan shape the direction and development of their respective teams.

"I am also looking forward to working alongside Paul Farbrace again as we have a similar outlook on the game, get on well after two years working together and have kept in touch.

Bright

"What particularly excites me about the role is the chance to work with a very talented group of players.

"I firmly believe that the team has a bright future and I'll be doing everything I can to help them realise their potential and achieve success on a consistent basis."

Head of England cricket Andrew Strauss reckons the 52-year-old is the right man to bring the Ashes home.

He said: "Trevor has an outstanding record as coach, has global experience and is very highly regarded in the game.

"He has proved himself in both domestic and international cricket, has a strong reputation for management and has shown how to build winning teams in all three formats."

England have one-day cricket in mind as the World Cup is coming here next and the Three Lions must do better than the shambles of last winter.

Strauss added: "His expertise in the shorter forms of the game will be vital as we build towards three major ICC events over the next four years."

"This has been a very competitive recruitment process and we're grateful to all of the candidates who showed their interest in this role. I'm excited to have him on board."

Murray happy to help kids

HELPING HAND:
Andy Murray
in Paris

ANDY MURRAY is on a mission to help the next generation of British tennis stars.

The Scot was vocal in the stands as he cheered Kyle Edmund to victory in the first round of the French Open.

The 20-year-old was up against a French player so he needed all the support he could muster.

The British number one tweeted: "Well done @kylebedmund on winning first grand slam match and likely breaking top 100 for first time."

And it's not the first time Murray has been helpful to a younger Brit. He is going out of his way to help the next generation break through on the main tour. The British Davis Cup team is getting stronger and Murray has been a major part of that success.

TENNIS

He said: "I remember a lot of the guys that were nice to me when I was young on the tour, and it's a good thing to do.

"I was very grateful to all of the players that were nice to me when I first came on the tour, because it can be tough.

"It's not easy as a 17, 18 year old coming into a locker room with older guys or people that you've watched on the TV and look up to.

"Some guys weren't nice. And I remember that too."

CHARLIE McCANN

WITH HIS SPORTING ODDS AND ENDS

BEN STOKES led England to a famous win in the First Test against New Zealand at Lords earlier in the week and I wonder have a side ever come back from 30 for 4 in the first innings when the opposition at one stage were 403 for 3 in reply?

Captain Cook's boys are 6/5 at BetVictor to win the Second Test which starts at Headingley on Friday with the Black Caps and the draw both priced at 11/5.

Brendan McCullum's side will come roaring back at the hosts but the English middle order looked very strong at Lords and any side that has the mercurial Moeen Ali at eight must have some batting line up.

With Mitchell Johnson struggling for form in the IPL perhaps the forthcoming Ashes series is not the shoe-in for the Baggy Greens some would have us believe. We have pushed Australia out to a best price 4/9 to win the series which starts in Cardiff in July with England 3s and a drawn series 6/1; if Stokes can be kept injury free through the summer who knows; perhaps his shameful omission from the World Cup squad down under earlier in the year was a blessing in disguise.

ENGLAND FIRED BY ALL-ROUNDER

I wonder what Eoin Morgan and the ODI selectors must think now after their dismal showing in the 50-over format?

★ Middlesbrough in the Championship Play-Off Final but how will they cope back in the Premier League next term?

We make the Canaries 5/6 to stay up at the end of the next Premier League season and 5/6 to be relegated and bet

5/6 they get 37 or more points next term and the same price they get 36 or fewer.

★ Holders Sevilla are 8/13 to win the Europa League in 90 minutes in Warsaw on Wednesday night with Dnipro 11/2 and the draw at 3/1.

The Spanish side, who are looking for a fourth win in the competition, are worthy favourites but the layers don't expect to see too many goals with two or fewer priced at 3/4 and three or more at 11/10.

This is Dnipro's first UEFA Final and they have already lost four times in this season's competition (won six, drew four) but they will make it difficult for the favourites and the first goal will be vital.

Four of the five most-booked players in this year's competition are from Dnipro and the Evens for Artem Fedetskiy to get a card looks attractive given he has already received seven yellows in the competition.

Carlos Bacca is 18/5 to score the opening goal and he is looking to become the third Colombian to win the UEFA Cup/Europa League after Faustino Asprilla and the ageless Radamel Falcao.

It took penalties for Sevilla to win their last two UEFA Cup/Europa League titles and the Spanish side are 14/1 to lift the Trophy after spot kicks.

Note BetVictor will refund losing bets on selected markets up to a maximum of £10 as a free bet if the match goes to penalties.

I think Seville will follow up last year's win against Benfica and a 2-0 correct scoreline looks overpriced at 13/2.

MERC BERK SAYS SORRY TO HAMMO

FORMULA ONE

MERCEDES boss Toto Wolff has been down on his knees begging forgiveness from Lewis Hamilton as the Monaco Grand Prix debacle rolls on.

The team held a crisis meeting yesterday to see what went wrong in Monte Carlo where their bungling tactics cost the Brit victory.

Formula One sometimes seems to be about everything but who's the best driver and this was another example.

Because his team brought Hamilton into the pits when there was a safety car out, he lost his lead and wasn't allowed to overtake anybody — bit of a problem in a motor race.

And Wolff has at least got some answers after the team crisis meeting.

He said: "What happened is we had a virtual safety car, switching into a safety car.

"Lewis coming running into it for the last couple of corners. The system showing us a clear possibility of a free stop and the system was wrong by a couple of seconds.

Strong

"Normally you go for these stops. In this case, Lewis' comment about the tyres being dead added to the picture and then we pitted.

"In hindsight, if you look at it from a common sense standpoint there is a very different logic."

But all Wolff wants to talk about now is how Hamilton took the balls-up on the chin — and didn't throw his toys out of the pram.

He added: "Losing a race which he owned, which he controlled and came out of it with a maturity and as a leader in a spectacular way which makes me very happy, to see him coming out strong."

"I think we have all grown into a team. We have brought the team to where we are today all together, despite the ups and downs and difficult moments, and he's very much part of that team and part of the decision-making of the team."

"He motivates and inspires so many people within the team in the same way he is inspired by lots of the clever boys out there. He's just an integral part."

Drogba: I couldn't score past my Blues

DIDIER Drogba says he could NEVER play for another Premier League team.

The Ivorian was given a hero's send-off at Stamford Bridge on Sunday when his team-mates chaired him from the field.

And the big man says playing against his beloved Blues would break his heart.

Drogba said: "I would never play for another English team.

"No disrespect to them, there are some brilliant, fantastic teams in the Premier League, but my love for this club, I can't share it with another team."

And Drogba has told Petr Cech to bide his time and stay with the champions.

The 33-year-old keeper says he does not want to see out his career as second choice stopper to Thibaut Courtois who has been excellent this season.

He has one year left on his contract and Drogba has told Cech to see it out because he is "made welcome" at the Bridge.

Respect

The striker said: "I think the club should keep him because we know who Petr Cech is at this club.

"No matter what happens I think the club will respect his decision.

"If he wants to stay, he can stay. I think he is more than welcome here. If he wants to go, it's his choice as well. It's up to him, but we want him to stay."

As for Drogba himself, he looks set to follow Frank Lampard and Steven Gerrard to the US.

The 37-year-old knows the clock is ticking on his career and he doesn't want to spend his time getting splinters in his arse on the bench somewhere.

He said: "Next year I want to have more minutes than I am having now, I just want to play you know, and finish maybe on a high. Saying that I gave everything, and I can't no more."

"This year I didn't have that feeling. I felt I could still play, and I still want to enjoy it before I stop."

"I'm a bit frustrated because you want to play, like every player, you want to play more, play every game - but it is not possible."

"So, for me to stay here and to finish with frustration, no that is not possible, so we all agree and we all understand what is good for all of us."

EUROPA LEAGUE FINAL: SEVILLA v DNIPRO

US BOUND: Drogba

SPANIARDS DESPERATE FOR CHAMPIONS PLACE

HOLDERS Sevilla go for back-to-back wins in the Europa League knowing this year's tie is even more important than 12 months ago.

For the first time tonight's winners will be rewarded with a lucrative Champions League place.

Dnipro boss Myron Markevych shuffled his pack for Saturday's 3-2 win over Shakhtar Donetsk but the familiar faces will be back tonight.

Yevhen Shakhov is injured but Yevhen Konoplyanka and Ruslan Rotan are both back. Former Blackburn

By TREVOR CLEMENTS

Rovers striker Nikola Kalinic will start on the bench with Yevhen Selezniov, who has two Europa League goals this season, handed the task of leading the line.

Sevilla boss Unis Emery has lost goalie Beto and defender Nicolas Pareja to injury but otherwise he can pick from a full squad.

Kevin Gameiro and Carlos Bacca will scrap it out for the job of main striker.

Like Dnipro, Sevilla also prepared with a 3-2 weekend win, at Malaga.

The Spanish outfit are the competition's most prolific winners this season (10 games) and have lost only once at any stage of the competition.

Borussia Monchengladbach were put away with ease, 4-2, in the first knockout stage.

In the last 16, Villarreal suffered even more stylishly with a 5-2 thrashing before the quarter-finals.

Sailed

Zenit St Petersburg and Fiorentina stood in Sevilla's path and the Italian aces were the semi-final opponents and that proved a no-contest as Sevilla sailed to a 5-0 aggregate victory.

Dnipro are European novices. The Ukrainians are in their first major continental competition final although they did reach the European Cup quarter-finals in 1985 and 90.

They have played four more games than Sevilla having started this season's contest in the Champions League qualifiers.

They finished second to Inter Milan in Group F despite taking only seven points from six games.

Olympiacos were the last 32 opponents and the Greeks were beaten 4-2 on aggregate.

It took away goals to beat Ajax next and a 1-0 Club Brugge victory pitted Dnipro against Napoli who had been competition favourites for some time.

Dnipro drew 1-1 in Italy before winning the return 1-0.

Emery said his side's fantastic Europa League was down to a love affair with the competition.

Strong

"This is for all Sevilla fans, because we care about this competition more than anyone," Emery said.

"I'm tremendously happy."

Dnipro's Brazil defender Douglas said: "We respect Sevilla but we are a strong team too and we can win the final."

BENITEZ LOOKS THE REAL DEAL

By MIKE MURRAY

as the frontrunner with his agent saying the Spaniard would be "delighted" to take the job, especially with Perez having intimated that he wanted a Spanish speaker in the role.

The news will deflate Liverpool fans who have grown impatient with current boss Brendan Rodgers and Benitez was top of their wish list. The bookies had made him even favourite to be the next permanent Anfield boss.

But they are set to be disappointed after Ancelotti's agent Ernesto Bronzetti insisted that he had heard that Madrid-born Benitez a previous youth and assistant coach at the Estadio Santiago Bernabeu, was returning to the club as first team boss.

"Rafa Benitez is 99% Real Madrid coach," Bronzetti said.

Ancelotti had been linked with an immediate return to his former club Milan, although the 55-year-old said he will undergo a minor back operation and then take some time off -- a plan which his representative appeared to confirm.

"At the moment, Ancelotti wants to take a year's rest," Bronzetti said. "That is his intention." He insisted the Madrid players will miss the genial Italian boss, a view supported on social media led by midfielder Toni Kroos.

He said: "Gracias Mister. It was a pleasure to work with you and I wish you all the best for the future."

Colombia international James Rodriguez gave a similar message: "Thanks for everything boss, in a short time I learned a lot from you."

One eyecatching aspect of Benitez's appointment is he will be forced to work with former Manchester United foe Cristiano Ronaldo.

That could be interesting!

GOING: Jokanovic

Hornets boss to buzz off

NEWLY promoted Watford will start next season with a new manager after Slavia Jokanovic was shown the door yesterday.

Former Athletico Madrid coach Quique Flores is hotly tipped to take over.

Former Udinese coach Francesco Guidolin has also been linked with the role.

Jokanovic led the Hornets to second in the table and a return to the top flight after eight years in the wilderness.

At one stage of the season he was Watford's FOURTH coach of a stormy start to the campaign.

But Watford chiefs are believed to want to look towards Europe for an experienced manager to lead such an important campaign.

Flores was at Getaafe in Spain last term but that only lasted two months with the boss walking away citing personal reasons.

Promotion

Meanwhile Watford's wing-back Juan Carlos Paredes claims he has had offers from clubs in Spain but says he wants to remain with the Hornets.

The 27-year-old signed last summer and went on to make 40 appearances last season as Watford secured promotion to the Premier League.

Paredes is currently training with Ecuador ahead of the country's Copa America campaign – the competition begins next month – but has expressed his desire to remain with the Hornets next season.

He said: "There are options of Spain but personally I want to stay at Watford because there is a good group."

On his way into the Prem new boys is £5m capture Rudy Gestede from Blackburn Rovers.

Watford want to give Troy Deeney a hand up front for a season in which goals are sure to be at a premium.

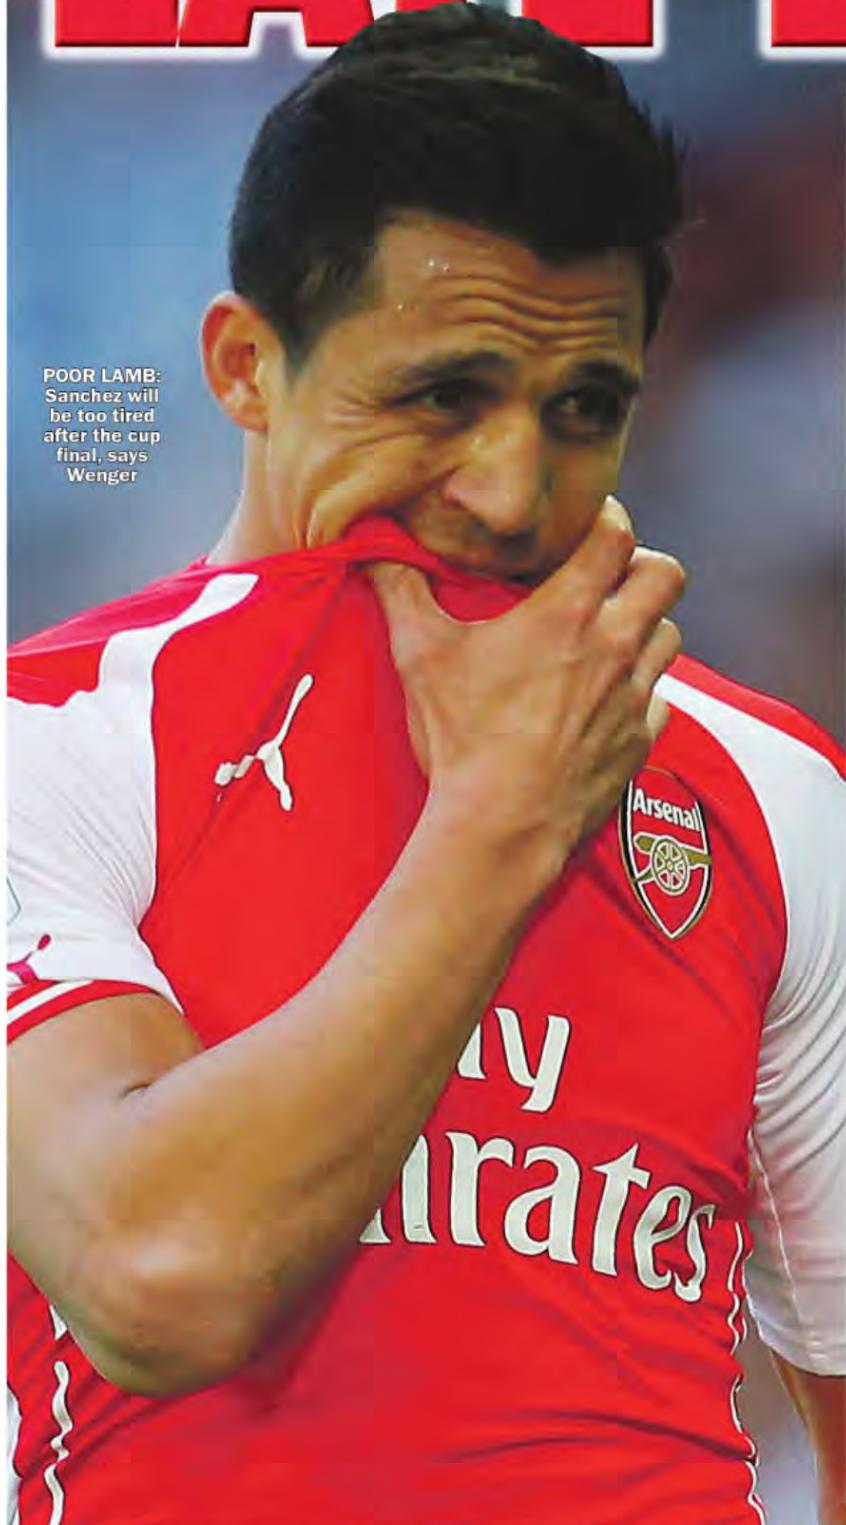

Gestede is a full international with Benin and banged in 20 goals in the Championship last season.

FA CUP FINAL AT WEMBLEY: THREE DAYS TO GO

LATE BLOW

POOR LAMB:
Sanchez will be too tired
after the cup
final, says
Wenger

Arse aches over late final date

ARSENAL manager Arsene Wenger goes into Saturday's FA Cup final against Aston Villa with fears the late end to the campaign is putting pressure on some of his stars.

Moving the FA Cup final from the start of May to the end of the month means there is little breathing space for players like Alexis Sanchez and David Ospina to recover before they vanish to the Copa America.

Sanchez will lead the Chile front line while goalie Ospina protects Colombia's rearguard.

Their preparations will start almost immediately with the tournament starting on June 11 and – given successful campaigns – not end until July 4.

Then they will be up for club training with next season's Prem campaign starting a week earlier than normal on August 8.

"Moving the fixture calendar forward deeply affects pre-season and I believe it is the wrong decision of the Premier League to start on August 8," said Wenger, whose side at least ended the Premier League campaign in third place and so avoided a Champions League play-off.

"The players have played the World Cup, then you have no winter break, you come out of the Premier League and when you reach the FA Cup final, you play on May 30, then the Copa America, then the European players who are called up by their international teams play until June 14, then you start again on August 8.

"If you count six weeks' preparation, where is the time for recovery?"

Wenger has a particular issue with the scheduling of the Copa America, where Sanchez will aim to take hosts Chile all the way to the final in Santiago.

The Arsenal boss said: "I feel this competition is a bit too much. I will watch it, but with a little bit of fear because Sanchez has played 50 games for us and goes there again, having already played in the World Cup last summer. I think FIFA was wrong to sanction it."

Villa boss Tim Sherwood also had Wembley worries with the news that Danish centre-back Jores Okore is still struggling with knee complaints after making his comeback from a cruciate ligament injury suffered last season.

Okore was rested on Sunday and has sat out of all training sessions in a bid to make the Wembley showpiece but already the centre-half has been warned that surgery may be the only way to rectify the problem this summer.

Sherwood said: "If I want anyone to be in the trenches with me it would be him. Unfortunately the knee is too bad so he is going to need some assistance on that."

Asked if he will be fit for the cup final, Sherwood said: "In his mind he thinks his job is done because he is doing it for the team. That's the way he feels. I want him fit. Then I can make a choice."

"He really has gritted his teeth and got us over the line in the Premier League because he thought that was the priority."

"He is not thinking about himself. His performances, particularly with this injury considered, have been excellent."

"The players are going in trying to do their job having at times only been able to train once a week, especially when you need to be switched on and fit, so I think they have done brilliantly."

Neil to give squad a chance

NORWICH boss Alex Neil knows it will be a steep learning curve in the Premier League next season.

The 33-year-old has done a brilliant job in getting the Canaries back into the top-flight via the play-offs.

But he knows the hard work to stay there needs to start immediately and he's already looking at his squad.

Neil said: "You are always evolving as a person, coach and manager. I am certainly better than what I was two years ago. I will have to learn fast, but I am prepared to put the hours in to make us as equipped as can be to compete."

"The next couple of days will be busy, we have two plans set in place in terms of recruitment, so we need to look at that."

"We will need to add quality to the squad, but I will stick with the hard-core group of the squad and make sure they get their opportunity of going up."

BORUC IS BOURNE FREE

By PETE BAILEY

League for the first time in their history.

Boruc kept 16 clean sheets in 37 games in the Championship – including four in the final five games as promotion was assured.

He becomes manager Eddie Howe's first addition of this historic close season and the club's first permanent signing since August.

Boruc impressed for Cherries during two separate emergency loan spells in the first half of the campaign before penning a standard loan agreement back in January.

Before his arrival in September, the Cherries had fallen to 15th place in the Championship having conceded 10 goals in a five-match winless run.

However, Boruc, who missed the 2-0 defeat at Derby, started 16 league games and helped Cherries to 12 wins and four draws which took them to the top of the table.

Fans welcomed the signing on social media with one cheering: "We got a big Pole in our goal!"

COMING HOME:
Di Matteo

DI MATTEO LOOKS ON WAY BACK

FORMER Chelsea gaffer Roberto Di Matteo could be on his way back to British football after walking out on German side Schalke 04 yesterday.

Di Matteo has only been manager there since last November since the sacking of Jens Keller and he led the Bundesliga outfit to a finishing position of sixth.

As a player Di Matteo served Chelsea with distinction scoring 26 goals in 119 appearances between 1996 and 2002 and made his name as a manager in England where he took charge of MK Dons, West Brom and Chelsea.

He was only caretaker boss at Chelsea for a spell in 2012 but led the blues to their first Champions League trophy and doubled it with FA Cup success.

Bizarrely he was sacked the same year.

Nibble

There is every chance Di Matteo will be on his way back to this country.

Championship Derby County are definitely on the lookout for a new boss as are Newcastle United while, despite the votes of confidence, Brendan Rodgers sits uncomfortably at Anfield, as does Manuel Pellegrini at Manchester City.

And there has been a nibble in the betting for him being the next man to boss West Ham — he's as short as 3/1 for the Upton Park hotseat.

He is also being linked with a move to Premier League new boys Watford and he's on the shortlist.

Di Matteo said: "For me to stay here and to finish with frustration, no that is not possible, so we all agree and we all understand what is good for all of us.

"The frustration at the club after an unsatisfactory second half of the season is too great.

"With the club unable to create what I consider to be the necessary conditions it is not possible to guarantee the success expected by a club of the size of Schalke 04.

"Therefore I think a fresh start is best for a club and its supporters who have become very close to my heart."

Pelle digs in at City

MAN CITY boss Manuel Pellegrini is talking up the club's chances of winning back their title next year.

It's thought that the club's bosses have given the Chilean just one season to bring the title back — and to do a lot better in the Champions League.

Either way, it looks like the megabucks City owners have their heart set on getting Pep Guardiola in this time next year.

But Pellegrini is only focused on next term, saying: "I am sure we are going to return stronger next season that we are going to recover the title for the Etihad.

"The same way that our stadium is growing with the new stand, I think the club completely will grow.

"There are a lot of important things in our project that we must try to improve every year.

"I always have communication every week with the owners. I know exactly what they think — they know what I think also."

Hammers keen to beat the 'curse of Big Sam'

By TREVOR CLEMENTS

BIG Sam Allardyce walked away from West Ham United at the weekend with all parties saying it was by mutual consent.

But the fact it took just three minutes to pack his bags after the 2-0 defeat at Newcastle United on the final day suggest it was more at the club's behest than the manager's.

But this is where the Hammers fans should start to get worried.

There is an interesting trend involving clubs which Allardyce leaves — they get relegated the following season.

He left Newcastle in 2008 and they hit the trap door in 2009.

He then had two seasons at Blackburn, leaving in 2010. They went down in May 2011.

Grateful

Allardyce said: "That must be just coincidence and I really don't wish it on the Hammers.

"I had decided to leave at the end of the season anyway but if West Ham insist they didn't want me to stay either then I suppose you could call it mutual consent."

United said they were grateful for Allardyce's efforts with a statement from the club saying: "He leaves the club in a considerably better state than when he arrived and, for that, the board are truly grateful."

But ultimately they wanted a new manager to oversee their final season at the Boleyn Ground before their high-profile move to the Olympic Stadium.

Former Liverpool boss Rafa Benitez is top of the Upton Park wish list but it seems they are likely to miss out with the current Napoli manager being increasingly linked with Real Madrid. Allardyce says he will take a break from football: "West Ham have a big job on appointing their new manager and I have a job spending more time with my family."

"Running a football team is a full-time job and inevitably your family get neglected."

Big Sam, 60, has a wife, Lynn and a son, Craig.

He added: "I now have the chance to take a break and recharge the batteries."

"It was four long years with the Hammers."

"Once recharged you are in a better position to move on."

"I dare say I will be back in management but it hasn't

MERRY-GO-ROUND IN THE PREMIER LEAGUE

GONE: Big Sam says he'll take a break before making his managerial comeback got to be just a job, it has to be the right job."

Big Sam was born in Dudley and was a Wolverhampton Wanderers supporter as a boy so that job would appeal should it ever become available.

The Hammers have said meanwhile their next boss must be capable of taking them up a level as they contemplate a season in the Europa League thanks to the Fair Play League system.

The bookies have already made up their mind and think it will be Slaven Bilic in the Upton Park dugout next season.

West Ham bosses have made it clear that the new man has to fit in with the philosophy of the club. Whether that's a nod to Bilic, who played for the Hammers, or not remains to be seen.

The club statement said: "We now have the chance to appoint a new manager with a new philosophy to lead us into two of the most exciting years in our great club's history.

"We fully expect to appoint a manager with the credentials to take this club on to new heights."

That makes it clear that whoever does win the post must connect with the club, its culture and its supporters.

It must come playing the traditional 'West Ham way' brand of vibrant, attacking football.

SHORTLIST: Slaven Bilic is one of the names linked with the vacant West Ham manager's job

Hammers bag Europa place

WEST HAM will play in the Europa League next season – thanks to the Fair Play League.

The Hammers finished top of the table and will go into the first qualifying round.

The opening match is on July 2 so West Ham won't want to waste any time getting their new manager in.

It's the first European football for the club since 2006-7.

The club's joint-chairmen David Sullivan and David Gold said in a statement: "We are delighted to have won a place in the UEFA Europa League as we want to ensure the Boleyn Ground the best send-off possible, and progress in this competition will certainly help with that."

"Starting in early July will bring its challenges but everyone at the club, from the board to the players and supporters, will be relishing the opportunity to feature on the European stage."

"It should be a fantastic experience."

LATEST TWIST IN THE CRISIS AT ANFIELD

£15M

Kop runs scared of huge pay-off to ditch Rodgers

LIVERPOOL yesterday insisted under-fire manager Brendan Rodgers' job at Anfield is SAFE — and there are 15 million reasons why.

The boss has three years left on his contract — at a whopping £5 million a time. So the Northern Irishman would cop a MASSIVE pay-out if getting the bullet from the Kop.

And when you throw in the costs of giving his backroom staff the boot and bringing in the new man — the club is looking at a payment of at least £20m.

That's money the club just cannot afford to throw out of the window this summer.

Liverpool are in the middle of a costly ground rebuilding plan and its owners were hoping to spend no more than £50m in the transfer market this summer.

So changing managers would take a huge chunk out of that already pretty small kitty by top Premier League standards.

Dejected

And any big name coming in — especially someone like Jurgen Klopp — would demand much more money to boost the squad.

Despite the financial aspects, most fans will still be shocked that Rodgers isn't heading for the job centre.

The manager even admitted himself that his spell with the Reds was on the line as he trudged dejected away from a 6-1 battering at Stoke City on the final day of the season.

But sources close to owners Fenway Sports Group insisted the Northern Irishman will be given the chance to pull a Phoenix from the ashes of a poor campaign.

Liverpool drifted into sixth having pulled themselves into a Champions League slot from an early season slump. But then the roller coaster slipped back down the rails.

They took just eight points from the last available 27.

FSG president Mike Gordon is holding a post-season review which will have the sweat bubbles rising on Rodgers' brow after their target of Champions League qualification turned into nothing more than a dream.

After all, a similar inquest three years ago Anfield saw legend Kenny Dalglish get the boot but an Anfield source said: "Brendan is safe."

"For now. He is only one year into a four-year contract and FSG want to give him the chance to prove this season was a blip, not a catastrophe."

Notice the first thing mentioned by the club was the manager's massive contract.

Most of the first-team squad jetted to Dubai yesterday as part of a send off for legend Steven Gerrard but Rodgers stayed behind. He had a League Managers' Association awards dinner to attend last night.

Last year he got the top gong, now he is fighting for his job. Football, bloody hell!
